INTRODUCTION

Leonard Bender commenced business as a small goods manufacturer in Elizabeth Street, Launceston in 1889. By 1906 he was a pork butcher, ham and bacon curer, small goods manufacturer and dairy produce merchant at 110 Elizabeth Street, with a factory at the rear of the premises, and at 81 Brisbane Street. His products were sold beyond Launceston and shipped to the mainland. Mr Bender was the first person to establish an ice works in Launceston and special features of his business were the ice manufactory, freezing works and cool store for goods he made on the premises. Space in the cool store for perishable products was also available to the public.

The firm of Leonard Bender & Co. was registered in August 1911. In October 1911 Mr Bender entered into partnership with Albert Edward Webb, an accountant, who married Mr Bender's daughter. Bender & Co. was incorporated in 1923.

Born in the Huon, Leonard Bender had a keen interest in fruit growing and established an orchard on 30 acres at West Arm (in the vicinity of York Town) in the Tamar Valley, where he planted a number of apple varieties c1910. Before his death he controlled over 300 acres of fruit bearing trees, mainly on the West Tamar. Bender & Co. was one of the first to undertake direct overseas shipments of fruit from the Tamar in 1922, built the first fruit cool store in northern Tasmania and became one of the leading shipping agents in the north of the State. Bender & Co. Pty Ltd operated its apple and pear export business until 1974.

After the death of Leonard Bender in 1934 and Albert Webb in 1937, Leonard and George Webb, grandchildren of the firm's founder, maintained the family involvement in Bender & Co. Pty Ltd. The firm continued in the meat and small goods business until 1972 when it amalgamated with Blue Ribbon Meats, and as a subsidiary company, traded under the name of Bender Smallgoods. Members of the Webb family sold nos. 98 and 98a Elizabeth Street to the Launceston City Council in 1981. Webb Investments sold the plant and equipment at 98a Elizabeth and 119 York streets to Blue Ribbon Meat Products Pty Ltd in 1982.

Leonard Bender's name is remembered in Launceston by Bender's Lane.

The collection was donated to the Queen Victoria Museum and Art Gallery in May 1995 with additional items donated in September 2001.
